TOWBOAT'S BOILER EXPLODES.

One Man Missing and Another So Badly Hurt He Will Die.

Ravenswood, W. Va., April 9.—While on the way up the Ohio river from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh with twelve empty barges, the boiler of the towboat H. M. Hoxie of Pittsburgh blew up and the boat sank within five minutes off Portland, O. John Moran of Pittsburgh, a fireman, is missing and is thought to be drowned, and Joseph Wheeler, another fireman, was scalded by steam and will die. Three others of the crew had limbs broken and were also scalded.

Tornado in Missouri.

Short of Food and Clothing.

Seattle, Wash., April 9.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Dawson says the Canadian mounted police have brought news that the ice-bound whalers at Herschel Island are short of food and clothing, although having plenty of caribou meat, and will have no relief before July 25.

FLEE FROM THE CITY

PEOPLE OF TORRE ANNUNZIATA

DRIVEN OUT BY LAVA FROM MOUNT VESUVIUS.

PANIC AMONG INHABITANTS

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

ADD TO THE TERROR OF THE STRICKEN PEOPLE.

Naples, April 9.—The hope that Mount Vesuvius was becoming calm was dissipated during the day when the volcano became more active than ever.

The panic has spread to Naples. Two strong earthquake shocks, which shattered windows and cracked the walls of buildings, were experienced during the day. The entire population rushed to the streets in terror, many persons crying, "the Madonna has forsaken us; the end of the world has come."

No trace remains of Boscotrecase, a commune on the southern declivity of the mountain, and Torre Annunziata, on the shores of the gulf of Naples, one mile to the southward, is almost surrounded by the invading lava and has been evacuated by its 30,000 inhabitants. The people were brought to Naples by train, street cars, military carts and steamships. Similar means of transportation are being employed to bring away the people from Torre del Greco. The police and carabinieri are guarding the abandoned houses, and several members of the government also are there.

A telegram received from the mayor of San Sebastiano, a village near the observatory on the northwest declivity of Vesuvius, says the lava is approaching rapidly and that the people are terror-stricken. They have been for nights without sleep, he says, are destitute and beg that assistance be given them.

The work of succor is hampered owing to delays to the railway service, which is interrupted by red-hot stones thrown to a height of 3,000 feet, falling on the tracks.

As yet it is impossible to count the craters that have opened and from which streams of lava have flooded the beautiful and prosperous districts on the southeast shores of the gulf of Naples.

Resemble Terrific Explosions.

The atmosphere is heavily charged with electricity and now and then the flashes of lightning are blinding, while the detonations from the volcano resemble those of terrible explosions.

The churches of the city were open all Saturday night and were crowded with panic-stricken people. Members of the clergy are doing their utmost to calm the fears, but their arguments almost for naught when renewed earthquake shocks are experienced.

With the danger and horror of the situation aside, Vesuvius presents one of the most splendid sights imaginable. The mountain of fire, whose speech is by thunder and whose acts are destruction, seems like an enraged giant determined to make the pigmies of earth feel the might of his wrath. Here and there on the mountain-side stand the blasted trunks of pine trees, their bare branches outstretched as though in protest against the devastation the volcano has wrought.

The Duchess of Aosta, who always is to be found where misery exists, is not sparing herself in her efforts to alleviate distress. The people call her an angel of mercy.

The observatory has been destroyed and Signor Matteucci, the director, and the employees had narrow escapes. They passed Saturday night in the darkness, save for the frequent flashes of lightning, as the gas works and electric lighting plant also were destroyed. Prisoners in jails on the mountain-side went mad with terror and were only partially quieted by being brought here. But their fears have been communicated to the prisoners here, who may rebel at any moment. The situation is critical.

Breathing is momentarily becoming more difficult because of the poisonous fumes and smoke, while the hot ashes that are still falling tend to make life a burden.

Contrary to expectations, the sea has not yet shown signs of being affected by the phenomena, but fears are entertained that tidal waves may yet come and many craft have put to sea. Visitors to Naples are avoiding the hotels on the sea-front and the people living there are beginning to leave for higher altitudes.

Though there is much misery, up to the present time there have been no fatalities, except at Portici, where an old woman died, supposedly from fright.

Woman Burned to Death.

Saskatoon, Can., April 9.—Mrs.

George Gill was burned to death in a small frame shack at Riverside, in the Western portion of Saskatoon, early in the morning. She was alone in the shack at the time, her husband being in St. Paul, where he is in business.

Mrs. Roosevelt Returns.

Washington April 9.—Mrs. Roosevelt and her three children arrived here during the day from Savannah on the return from a cruise in the Mayflower to Cuba.

THE RAILWAY RATE MEASURE.

Senate Will Continue to Discuss the Subject This Week.

Washington, April 9.—The United States senate will continue this week to discuss the railway rate bill and the indications fail to support Senator Tillman's prediction that the week will witness the termination of the general debate. The conservative senators who are opposing the house bill are still standing out for a sweeping provision for court review. The presentation of the Long provision has had no effect upon the more pronounced element in intensifying their opposition. The discussion will be resumed during the day by Senators McLaughlin of Mississippi and Morgan of Alabama.

Mr. Bailey has given notice of a speech for Tuesday in reply to the criticisms that have been made by Mr. Spooner and Mr. Knox of his amendment depriving the United States circuit courts of the power to issue temporary writs of injunction in rate cases. Much interest is felt in the senator's reply and there is little doubt that it will bring out a number of speeches in rejoinder. He will occupy most of the time Tuesday and Mr. Spooner and Mr. Knox will make formal replies later in the week.

It is expected that the conservatives will present their court review provision very soon after Senator Bailey's speech. The preparation of it has been entrusted to Senator Knox and it is understood to be along the general lines of the fifth section of the Knox bill.

Senator Clapp will make an effort during the week to secure action on the conference report on the bill providing for the settlement of the affairs of the Five Civilized tribes of Indians. He will also try to get the Indian appropriations bill passed.

THE POSTOFFICE BILL.

House Will Devote Another Week to Its Consideration.

Washington, April 9.—Another week is to be devoted to the postoffice appropriation bill in the national house of representatives. The general debate on this measure has taken a wide range and the demands for recognition will make it impossible to reach the details of the bill before Wednesday. To complete it will consume the remainder of the week. The pure food bill has been made a special order to fill in time not taken up with the appropriation or revenue measures.

RIOT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Socialists and Police Engage in a Live-ly Fight.

San Francisco, April 9.—A riot took place during the day following a meeting of Socialists held in sympathy with Moyer and Haywood, arrested in connection with the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho. After the meeting an impromptu parade was started toward the business district. At Market and Kearney streets a halt was made at Lotta's fountain and one of the paraders climbed to the pedestal and placed on top of it a red banner bearing the inscription "The Constitution Be Damned." Another Socialist started to harangue the crowd, when a squad of police arrived to disperse the gathering.

A fight followed and about ten of the crowd were landed in the patrol wagon with sore skulls, the police having used their clubs freely.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Made Against Private Secretary to Senator Lodge.

Boston, April 9.—Robert G. Proctor, private secretary of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, for whose arrest on the charge of embezzlement a warrant was issued Saturday, surrendered himself at police headquarters during the day and was released on $500 bail.

The specific charge is that Proctor embezzled $225 belonging to John E. Bestgen of Quincy in October, 1904. Bestgen alleged that he gave Proctor the money as a Republican campaign contribution and that Proctor promised to aid him in obtaining a consulship.

Traveling Man Ends His Life.

Kansas City, Mo., April 9.—W. L. Hoch, a traveling man, aged forty years, whose residence is in Worcester, Mass., committed suicide some time after retiring at a local hotel. He left a note stating that this was his third attempt at suicide, his two previous attempts being made in El Paso last week. He was worried over business troubles.

VOLIVA SCORES DOWIE

DENOUNCES FORMER ZIONIST

LEADER AS A TRAITOR TO HIS PEOPLE.

STATEMENTS ARE APPROVED

VAST AUDIENCE APPLAUDS UT-

TERANCES OF MAN WHO SUC-CEEDED DOWIE.

Zion City, Ill., April 9.—The people of Zion heard their former leader, John Alexander Dowie, denounced from the pulpit in Shiloh Tabernacle during the day and they approved of it, or at least as many of them as could crowd into that vast meeting house signified their willingness to follow in the footsteps of General Overseer Voliva. Zion's new leader was the man that told of Dr. Dowie's alleged misdeeds and the more bitter and scathing his denunciation, the more general and enthusiastic the approval of his listeners.

When after denouncing Dowie as a "spendthrift," "liar," and "a traitor to his trust and his people," Overseer Voliva suddenly stopped and demanded a sign of the audience as to who should be their future leader, the 5,000 people in the tabernacle arose as one person and shouted their approval of Voliva.

When Voliva was most bitter in denunciation of his former master there was no one in the audience who showed such approval as Overseer Jane Dowie, the wife for thirty years of John Alexander Dowie and the mother of his three children. When Voliva in angry tones exclaimed: "I will see that all the costly furniture and expensive library adorning Dowie's Zion City residence and which were purchased by that hypocrite while many of his people were in need of food, are sold and the money turned into Zion storehouse," Mrs. Dowie half rose from her seat and with voice and hands applauded the words of the speaker.

Voliva, in justification of the overthrow of Zion's first apostle, told how money had been spent for Dowie's own comfort while the creditors and the people of Zion were demanding for money.

In bringing his denouncement to a close, Voliva said:

"Alexander Granger owns this tabernacle. He owns this entire estate. What I want you to do is to send all tithes and offerings to Zion in the name of Overseer Granger instead of in the name of John Alexander Dowie. Make all checks and all commercial paper of every description payable to Alexander Granger."

Dowie's Methods Denounced.

The day has come when you ought to act as men and women. I don't want you to do anything by constraint. I want to be calm and straightforward and present these matters in such a way that none can truthfully say that you were excited or acted on the impulse of the moment. If you want to stand for downright lying, hypocrisy, shameful misuse of money, keep your seats, but all of those present who are tired of his lying, his exaggerations, his misrepresentations, his inconsistencies and his gross ignorance of all business laws and principles, stand up as an evidence of denouncement of Dowie and his methods."

The response to this request was instantaneous, everyone in the building jumping to their feet.

After the singing of a hymn, Voliva requested all present to remain away from the railway station next Tuesday when Dowie is expected to reach Zion City.

"I don't want you to go down there and listen to his egotistical harangue," said Voliva. "If he should try any of his spectacular antics on his arrival here we will soon put a stop to it."

After the meeting the 250 Zion guards or policemen were sworn in to support Voliva in all his undertakings and all except one took the oath of allegiance.

A message was received from Dowie during the afternoon stating that he would arrive here Tuesday morning and ordering Shiloh House, his residence in Zion City, to be prepared for his homecoming. Voliva, after reading this message, stated in emphatic terms that Dowie would not be allowed to enter even the door of what was formerly his home.

LARGE CROWD HEARS DOWIE.

His Followers at San Antonio, Tex., Remain Loyal to Him.

San Antonio, Tex., April 9.—Dr. Dowie and his party left shortly before 8 o'clock p. m. for St. Louis. The train was delayed at San Antonio and this was taken advantage of by the local Zionites, who arranged for a meeting at which Dr. Dowie spoke. The meeting was secret, for the Zionists feared if the general public became aware that the first apostle was to deliver an address the hall would prove too small. As it was every seat in the local temple was filled an hour before the venerable leader made his appearance.

For ten minutes Dowie and the audience prayed together to banish the devil from Zion. Then Dowie told his story to the expectant people. His entire address was centered about polygamy and the conduct of his wife. The audience was with him in all that he said, even when he bitterly disparaged Mrs. Dowie.

A dramatic incident occurred after Dowie had been speaking about twenty minutes, when Mrs. Emma Rapp and her husband arose and faced the apostle.

"Have you anything to say, sister?" said the venerable leader.

"I lived in your house for a number of years," said the woman, "and I want to tell these people here that never was there a kinder husband or a better Christian gentleman. I want to say also that when your every act was one of kindness and consideration to Mrs. Dowie, she made life insufferable by her insane jealousy and fiendish perversity. I often wondered how you could be so kind. I make this statement because God has told me to speak."

Dowie closed with a peroration in which he declared that so long as breath remains in his body he will fight for the rehabilitation of Zion.

After the benediction the audience filed past Dowie and shook his hand, each reiterating an assurance of loyalty.

Dowie Not Insane.

Pittsburg, April 9.—"John Alexander Dowie, the deposed prophet of Zion City, Ill., submitted himself to a week's examination as to his sanity by an alienist in Mexico because his wife and the faithful believed him crazy," said Elder Frederick G. Hendrickson, who passed through this city from New York to Chicago. "Dowie was pronounced absolutely sane and rational."

ANXIOUSLY AWAIT ANSWER.

People in Anthracite Fields Hope Strike Will Be Averted.

Philadelphia, April 9.—In the anthracite coal region the miners' locals held meetings during the day, but only routine business was transacted. All are anxiously awaiting the answer of the operators at New York, and it is the general hope that a strike will be avoided.

Heavy shipments of bituminous coal are being carried by the railroads to manufacturing establishments, which formerly used anthracite.

Information from the Scranton region is that the operators will reject the miners' arbitration proposition and offer no counter proposition, simply reaffirming their former contention that all matters at issue had been arbitrated already by the strike commission.

It is said that under no consideration will they consent to the recognition of the union and check off question, because they unalterably are opposed to the closed shop in the first place, and because the check off demand could not legally be granted, even though they were satisfied to grant it, which they are not. The operators are expected to stand pat on their first offer, a continuation of the commission's awards for three years, and take the consequences. The independent operators have notified the big companies that they are ready to follow their lead.

WATER POWER IS AVAILABLE

This Process would be of Inestimable Value to Mines on the Cuyuna Range

The greatest obstacle to the speedy development of the Cuyuna range has always been considered its distance from available fuel deposits, thus compelling the transportation of the ore to great distances and at freight rates that prohibit the use of low grade ores.

For some time the Canadian government has been making extensive tests of the new processes of smelting by electricity and reports come from Sault Ste. Marie that they have solved the problem not only from a scientific but from a commercial standpoint. The Minneapolis Journal contains a long communication from Sault Ste. Marie concerning the matter some portions of which are of vital interest to all interested in the iron industry in Crow Wing county. The report says:

"The experiments conducted here by the Dominion government having demonstrated the feasibility of commercially engaging in the manufacture of pig iron by the electric process, it remains only for capital to establish the independence of the industry in Canada. It has been proved that vast deposits of ore, hitherto considered valueless, because of their high sulphur content, can be profitably utilized by the use of the water power so abundant in Ontario and Quebec.

"The distribution of the raw materials in Canada is peculiar and unfortunate in the respect that the deposits of ore and coking coal are so widely separated as to make the transportation of either one commodity to the other unprofitable. Hence, impressed with the disability under which the nation rested, it became the task of Dr. Eugene Haanel, Dominion superintendent of mines, to find some other method of smelting iron ore, or some other source of energy than the combustion of carbon in blast furnaces. The electric process has been profitably employed in Europe, especially in France, and it was turned to as the solution. These points were to be settled: Could magnetic, Canada's chief ore, and which to some extent is a conductor of electricity, be successfully smelted? Could ore high in sulphur be made into pig iron of marketable composition? Could charcoal be substituted for coke, which must be imported? And lastly, what was the exact amount of electric energy required per ton of pig iron produced?

"To investigate properly these problems, a sum was set aside by the government and the work was undertaken by Dr. Heroult of La Paz, France. The Lake Superior Power company of Sault Ste. Marie offered a building in which to erect the plant and also the necessary electrical power, free of expense for four months. The proposition was accepted, and the experimentation began in earnest the middle of February. The demonstration was successful, so much so, in fact, that after 150 casts had been made, yielding about fifty-five tons of pig iron, it was considered unnecessary to make further tests and experiments were closed after only a portion of the appropriation had been expended. The ores first employed were hematites, and for the remainder of the experiments magnetites from the different sources of supply, all with one exception high in sulphur content.

"The tests showed that magnetic ores could be smelted with as much facility as hematites, and also that the use of charcoal gave the best of satisfaction. It was determined that the very best of pig iron could be made from ores containing as high as 1 per cent of sulphur when in blast furnace practice ores running as low as one-tenth of 1 per cent sulphur are avoided.

"Under the prevailing conditions in Canada, it now only remains for the engineer to design a plant on a commercial scale, say of 100 to 150 tons daily output, with all the necessary labor-saving appliances. Further economy will come with experience, it is argued, and it is not at all unlikely that the day is not far distant when the carbon monoxide, which is of high calorific value, and which at present, as a product of the re-action taking place in the furnace, is allowed to escape without utilization, will be employed to increase the output by at least a third or a half. If that should take place, Dr. Haanel contends, the blast furnace could not compete with the electrical plant even under conditions where coke might be cheaper than at present quoted in Ontario and Quebec."

With the vast amount of undeveloped water power in northern Minnesota it would certainly seem that this method of smelting would be the making of the iron ranges of Minnesota. The increasing use of electricity along all lines makes the commercial feasibility seem probable where twenty years ago the scheme would have outrivaled the widest flight of imagination of Jules Verne.

BASE BALL SEASON OPENS

Three Teams Already Organized in Brainerd---Strong Local Teams Will Be Put in Field

With the advent of the robin and the small boy with his marbles each spring comes the base ball. No other instrument of sport has so many adherents and they love it still even though it breaks their fingers or when it swats them in the eyes. From the small boy in knee pants to the grayhaired rooster on the bleachers they are already beginning to speculate and gamble on the winners of the pennants for the season of 1906. Of course Brainerd must have not only one team but many. Three teams are already organized and have begun to practice.

The Brainerd City Team has organized with Jack Boyle as captain, and A. F. V. Roderick as manager. They expect to put a strong team in the field and one that, while composed strictly of home amateurs will do Brainerd proud. Here's hoping they may.

The Brainerd High School team has organized for the season with Prof. Santee as faculty manager, William McGinnis as student manager and Bert Ahear as captain.

The Brainerd North Stars have also organized for the season with Charles Bush as manager and John Boyle as captain. Their lineup in the commencement of the season will probably be about as follows: Quinn Parker c, Chas. Bush p, John Burns 1b, Olson 2b, Barron ss, Ahear 3b, Bennett lf, Ousdahl rf. Center field has not yet been decided upon.

In addition to these there are a number of junior teams that already have blood in their eyes and propose to make life worth living.

The three teams above mentioned are negotiating for the ball park and it is expected that some amicable arrangement will be made so that they will control it together and thus avoid clash on dates of games.

Brainerd always did patronize amateur ball better than it did professional and some good games well attended are anticipated for this summer.

Killed by a Train.
Osceola, Wis., April 9.—Emmett Lloyd, about thirty years old, was struck by an eastbound Soo train some time during the night and instantly killed. His head and both legs were cut off and his body was scattered along the tracks for a distance of 200 feet. The body was not found until morning. Lloyd had been working in this vicinity the past winter.

LOSES HAND
UNDER CARS

M. C. Knowles, Son of Rev. Harry Knowles, Loses Hand Under Train

WAS TRYING TO MAIL LETTER

Slipped and Fell and His Left Hand went Under Wheels

And was Crushed

Maxwell C. Knowles, son of Rev. Harry Knowles, pastor of the M. E. church here, suffered a sad accident at Duluth Thursday, as is shown by the following from the Duluth dailies:

While attempting to mail a letter as he ran along with the moving train at the Union depot Thursday night, M. C. Knowles, agent for the Saskatchewan Land company and son of Rev. Harry Knowles, formerly of this city, tripped against a low switch and in falling his left arm went under the wheels. The hand was severed at the wrist.

No one saw the accident, and unaided, though in a fainting condition from the loss of blood, he walked to the office of Dr. S. H. Boyer with hand hanging by a mere shred of skin, where the wound was dressed. He recovered quickly from the shock.

Knowles says he remembers nothing after he threw out his arm in the attempt to stay his fall. He says he had entered the train shed through the baggage room, anxious to get a letter on the train, which was already in motion when he raised the iron lid of the mail box. He was compelled to run along beside the car for a short distance. Because of darkness he did not see a switch which stood in the way and he tripped and fell.

The injured man has been in Brainerd several times of late on business and has made many friends here who sadly regret the accident.

First District Convention of Scandinavian Good Templars Met at Brainerd Yesterday

Yesterday was a field day for the Scandinavian Good Templars of Brainerd. The convention of the first Minnesota District, comprising the northeastern part of the state, was held here. There were fourteen delegates here from Hinckley, Sandstone, Duluth and towns on the iron range. There were also about thirty out of town visitors at the convention. There were two sessions held at Scandia hall, corner 13th and Norwood, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. In the evening the visitors were entertained at a banquet at the same place. The officers of the district organization were all re-elected. The next district convention will be held in Duluth in November.
